++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Wet and windy weather clearing east. Fine with sunshine Wednesday.

This Evening and Tonight:
Wet and windy during the evening, however conditions should improve from the west overnight, with winds easing and rain clearing into the North Sea. Becoming chilly in the wake of the rain, with a slight frost possible in rural shelter. Minimum temperature 1 deg C (34 deg F).

Wednesday:
Soon brightening up to a fine day with sunny periods, although the breeze will temper the warmth somewhat during the morning. Becoming cloudy into the evening, with patchy rain arriving. Maximum temperature 15 deg C (59 deg F).

Outlook for Thursday to Saturday:
Warmer than of late through this period, drier too after patchy rain on Thursday. Variable amounts of cloud expected, but some sunny spells developing for many after fog patches clear.
